University of Illinois at Chicago

Looking forward to another exciting year

By Lauren Gaffey

Beginning this fall, we are creating a new student leadership council to coordinate and organize the different ministries we have at the Newman Center. The eight students who will make up the Newman Council have demonstrated their dedication to the mission of the Newman Center and their leadership ability both here and with other organizations at UIC. We are so pleased to introduce and welcome Liz Boyle, Emily Brunner, Noe Favella, Mike Greco, Rosalba Hernandez, Matt Hill, Caitlyn Olofsson, and Dan Pawlak to our ministry team.

Through their participation on the Council, these students will experience different aspects of the four main areas of ministry that we have at the Newman Center. Emily and Noe are heading the Community ministry. They will oversee programs designed to build up the Newman community including Newman at Night, After Mass dinners, and holiday gatherings. Matt and Caitlyn will work with other students as head of the Liturgy committee which prepares for daily, Sunday, and Holy Day Masses as well as prayer and Lenten opportunities.

Dan and Mike will lead the committee in charge of Faith Formation which includes Bible Studies, Knights of Columbus, the women's group, and RCIA. Finally, Rosalba and Liz will spearhead our initiatives in the area of Peace and Justice, working with the monthly Service Sunday experience, the spring break trip to Appalachia, and Hunger Banquet, among other new programs.

In addition to these eight members of the Newman Council, countless other students will be involved in the ministries here. From serving as liturgical ministers at Mass, to acting as sponsors for others going through RCIA, to gleaning produce to donate to local soup kitchens, there are numerous ways for students to get involved in existing programs as well as take the initiative as we begin new ones.

On a personal note, I am very excited to share some news from my own life. On July 29th, I married a wonderful man, Jim Gaffey, at St. Cecilia's Catholic Church in my hometown of Irvine, CA. Fr. Pat flew out to California to do the wedding Mass. The entire Newman Center staff and students have been wonderfully supportive throughout this entire time and I can't thank them enough for everything.

As the new school year begins, I am looking forward to catching up with our returning students and meeting the new ones!

Goodbye and good luck

By Meghan Murphy Gill

Sadly, by the time you are reading this article, I'm no longer on staff at the Newman Center. I have an amazing opportunity to work on an MA of theology at Catholic Theological Union, so I've decided to make this my priority for the next couple of years.

I learned so much at the Newman Center, and as my internship draws to a close, I've been reflecting on just what it is that I gained from my experience here and who made that possible.

Thank you so much to all of the students who enriched my life during the past year. Each of you has had profound impact on my life, and I'll no doubt always think of you when I drive by the Taylor/Halstead exit on the Interstate. Each Service Sunday reminded me how hopeful the world can be. Our long and exciting trek to protest the SOA let me know that yes, there is so much work to be done to bring about Christ's justice and peace, but with so many people willing to work for that and journey in community, the Holy Spirit must truly be at work. The Hunger Banquet affirmed that college students aren't just concerned with their majors, grades, and the details of their own lives, but want to make a difference and learn how to eliminate hunger. I could go on, listing each one of the programs I helped to coordinate, but I'm sure you get the picture: I love all of you and I am changed by you!

Like Lauren, I was also married this summer. My husband, Andrew Gill, and I celebrated a beautiful day among our friends and family in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. The weather couldn't have been more beautiful and we couldn't have felt more loved and prayed for. We appreciate all of the thoughts and prayers of the Newman staff and the students.

As most of you know, I love sharing what I know about Chicago, social thought, volunteering, world issues, etc. I may not be on staff here anymore, but I hope to always be a part of your lives. Don't hesitate to contact me for coffee at Che Café or lunch at Thai Bowl. Good luck and have a fabulous year!

"To holy people the very name of Jesus is a name to feed upon, a name to transport. His name can raise the dead and transfigure and beautify the living."

-- John Henry Cardinal Newman (1801-90)

Father Pat's Corner

Welcome back to all the students of the Newman Community and a very special welcome to those who are entering the University as freshman or transfer students this year. We would like to make every opportunity available to you so that you can continue to grow not only academically but in your faith while you are a student of the University of Illinois at Chicago.

Please visit us to see all the new programs we have to offer and sign up for them as soon as you can. As the semester goes on, schoolwork begins to take priority and you get involved in so many activities that it's hard to keep things separate.

I always like the beginning of the new school year because it brings new faces and new opportunities. I had a conversation with someone this summer talking about the importance of higher education in young peoples' lives. It should be an opportunity to promote dialogue and discourse with other students so that you can come to a deeper awareness and understanding of your values and what you are looking for in your life. Much of this discourse takes place outside of the classroom as well as in the classroom. At the Newman Center I think you have opportunity to use the advantages to assist in forming you into strong Catholic students.

One of the primary reasons that the Newman Center exists is to create a community for the Catholic students who attend UIC. If you are not aware, UIC has the largest Catholic student population of any University, Catholic or otherwise, in the metropolitan area. Out of the 25,000 students that attend school here over 60% of them are from Catholic families. This continues to bear itself out as we collect the religious preference cards and students indicate that their religious preference is Roman Catholicism.

The staff at the Newman Center is here to assist you in any way possible. Fr. Fiala and I are the two Priests on staff and those working in other positions are also available to give you whatever guidance or help that you need to negotiate the University.

The primary expression of our Catholic life is worship of the Holy Eucharist. The principle Liturgy is every Sunday at 7:00pm and that will begin on August 27th.

If you have any suggestions for programs that you would like to see the Newman Center offer, please contact one of our campus ministers or myself or one of the new leadership team members who can assist you in making your interest a reality.

On a sadder note, we said goodbye this past summer to two of our staff members. Bob Cassey, who was the Director of the Integritas Institute for Ethics and is looking for opportunities to be a Chaplain to a law firm. Tom Cramer also left us this summer to pursue a new opportunity that arose for him in development work at Loyola Academy in Wilmette. Tom has been our Development Director for the past 3 years. I thank them both for their dedication and service to the Newman Center and to the students we serve.

I hope this school year is one that is good for you and enriching in faith as well as enriching your lives in your academic pursuits. May God bless you.

Newman Interns are rising stars!

ByStephanie Woo

Advertising & Marketing Intern

Since most of you have been laying out at the beach, taking classes, or working full time jobs, I doubt that you have been able to make frequent stops at the Newman Center. So here's a little bit of what has been going on since you finished finals and let loose for the summer.

From the middle of May to early August, I have been working at the John Paul II Newman Center as their Advertising and Marketing Intern. While I initially expected to be sent on coffee runs, type endless amounts of data into the computer, and sort files and folders, my job turned out to be a lot more hands on and creative. I was in charge of making everything from brochures, flyers, and ad's for newspapers, to ordering promotional items, making window decals, and running the Newman Center booth during Student Orientation.

It was great to meet the incoming freshmen and transfer students at the Orientation sessions because they each had their own stories and unique personalities that just blew me away. Some students would "light up" and eagerly grab our candy, brochures, pens, and flyers, others would mosey on by, and then there were those who wanted to know everything there was about the Newman Center. Either way, I had a great time interacting with the students, and their presence really kept our campus lively throughout the summer. It was nice when I would see some of them stop by The Newman Center to hang out, eat lunch or get some spiritual refreshment.

The people I worked with were something else! They were so energetic, enthusiastic, and warm-hearted, that work was a very enjoyable experience. Some of the regular encounters at work would include Judie serenading us from her office, Father Tim using his advanced vocabulary to explain his philosophical thoughts, Luca stuffing envelopes while grooving to house music, Lauren making colorful rosaries out of twine, Lorena living like a bat in her dark office, and Father Pat having uncontrollable laughter while trying to tell us stories about his past.

Each day at work was different and full of fun encounters. One day I would be running around Chicago snapping photos for our brochures, making eye-catching ads, and ordering red-hot carabiners, and other days I would be hanging out with extras for the movie Quebec. Yes, that's right. The movie Quebec, starring Seann William Scott, Jenna Fischer, and John C. Reilly, has been filming in Chicago throughout the summer. The Newman Center lounge was used to "house" the extras and crew during filming.

With all the incoming students flooding campus in the summer, flyers, pens, and brochures being made left and right, the past 3 months have been pretty busy! While I don't have a golden tan or crazy outdoor extravaganzas (like many of you probably do), I had an amazing summer full of excitement. I guess the phrase, "Time flies when you're having fun" is the perfect way to sum up the summer. With everything going on, I am shocked that it's already August and the summer is nearly gone! I have learned so much about myself as well as working in the field of business. I went from teaching myself the basics on various computer programs, to placing ads in local newspapers and magazines and making brochures for different functions. My experience as the Advertising and Marketing Intern has been very adventurous and eye-opening, and I hope the Newman Center has a wonderful upcoming year!

New Beginnings

*Reading, writing and arithmetic
School opening soon with every clock's tick
Beginning a year of what ifs and what not Going through seasons of cold to hot*

*New people new faces, what a treat
New classes new friends, what a feat
Teachers and lectures and all new ideas
Fast food of pizzas, soda and tortillas*

*Up late studying when all is quiet
Not munching much because of the diet
Hoping and praying you pass the tests
Then there'll be peace and time for rest*

*Another year come to be You'll be great, just wait you'll see
Take time for your loved ones, they'll miss you so
They love you probably more than you know*

Thank you to all of our lifetime benefactors and donors!

2006 Business Ethics Conference: Oct. 24, 2006

By Gael Hanauer

We have become painfully aware in the last few years how important organization ethical behavior is, both to a company, and perhaps more importantly to the individuals who work there. While many companies spend time on strategic planning and budgeting, the ethical behavior of the organization as a whole has been left open to personal interpretation. Now companies are realizing that not everyone needs an ethical foundation upon which to make choices regarding right and wrong. In an effort to understand ethical organizational behavior, many enterprises today look to the study of ethics as they strive to assist their employees in building this ethical core.

The Integritas Institute, in conjunction with John Paul Newman II Center and the College of Business Administration of the University of Illinois at Chicago, is therefore pleased to announce the 2006 Business Ethics Conference. The Institute's mission of fostering a deeper appreciation of the ethical questions which arise from our everyday work and business lives, including a forum for the constructive exploration of answers will be addressed in several current areas during this day-long meeting.

This important conference, titled "The Ethical Organization in Times of Change", invites various business leaders to speak about the interrelated aspects of building an ethical organization, including corporate citizenship, employment strategies, management relations, and continuous improvement. The day begins with registration and a light breakfast at 8:30 a.m. and ends with a lively panel discussion of the day's issues at 3:30 p.m. In between we will hear from several leaders, including a keynote address by Terrance Duffy, Chairman of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. Lunch will be provided along with relevant table session discussions.
